Last Month

Last month for Native American Heritage month, Utah Valley University hosted their annual Native American Storytelling Night. Our students were invited to share a short play at this event. The play the students performed was called, Coyote Placing the Stars, A Navajo Creation Story.

Students also had the opportunity to perform Navajo songs at Springville Museum of Art, Contemporary Voices Artist Reception. Students did a fabulous job sharing the Navajo culture and language. Great Job students!

December's After School Lab Theme: Winter games and service!

This month students will make a Native stocking to display at the the Title VI Christmas Party, tie a quilt for Grandpa Jackson from Adopt-Native-Elder program, and learn the Navajo Shoe game and songs. They will also continue to receive academic tutoring. Come join the Fun!
